1. How can I get a refund on e-ZED tickets?

An eZED ticket should be refunded through the myIDTravel site if it was issued through myIDTravel. If it was not, it should be refunded at an American ticket office.

2. How will American's people list on US Airways flights after March 1?

Flight listing procedures will be as they exist today. For travel on US Airways, contact US Airways Employee Travel Line (ETL) at 1-800-325-9999 from the US or Canada or the local US Airways Reservation number from outside the US or Canada at least 48 hours in advance of an international flight, 12 hours in advance for domestic flights. Please be prepared with the all passenger details including full legal name, date of birth, gender, and/or redress number or known traveler number as well as the e-ticket number provided by American for all passengers.

3. What are the chances that the merger will not be approved?

A merger with US Airways was carefully evaluated using a disciplined, fact-based process, which demonstrated that a combination would offer a range of benefits to stakeholders of both airlines, including our customers. The merger requires several approvals, so while nothing is guaranteed, we strongly believe this merger would combine highly complementary networks, with minimal loss of competition. Out of more than 900 combined direct routes, only 12 overlap.

We would not have proceeded with the agreement if we weren't confident it has a high likelihood of being approved — our unions and ad hoc committee of bondholders share in our belief that this merger will benefit our customers, people and financial stakeholders. The new American is expected to generate more than $1 billion in net synergies, primarily due to new passengers taking advantage of our highly complementary, broader network and improved service. For our people, that improved financial performance will provide a path to better pay and benefits, more jobs, greatly improved job security and better opportunities for advancement, while offering American's bankruptcy creditors an enhanced opportunity for full recovery. The end result would be a stronger, more stable new American that will set a new standard of excellence throughout the industry.
