AMR REPORTS FOURTH-QUARTER EARNINGS OF
$56 MILLION BEFORE SPECIAL ITEMS

FULL-YEAR EARNINGS ARE $752 MILLION BEFORE SPECIAL ITEMS

FORT WORTH, Texas -- AMR Corporation, the parent company of American Airlines, Inc., today reported fourth-quarter net earnings of $56 million, or $0.34 per common share diluted, before special items. This compares to net earnings of $87 million, or $0.57 per common share diluted, before special items for the same period in 1999.

"We had a challenging fourth quarter," said Donald J. Carty, American's chairman and chief executive officer. "While demand for air travel was strong, severe weather across much of our system resulted in lost traffic and higher operating costs. And of course, fuel prices remained very high.

"Nevertheless, we had a successful year, with strong revenue driven by both high load factors and robust yields," Carty added. "Undoubtedly, this performance was aided by our More Room Throughout Coach initiative that we launched last February, and which has been a huge success in terms of building customer loyalty."

Carty noted that cargo revenue also remained strong, rising 9.8 percent for the quarter and 12.1 percent for the year.

AMR's fourth-quarter results brought the company's full-year 2000 net earnings to $752 million, or $4.65 per common share diluted, before special items and an extraordinary loss. This compares with 1999 net earnings of $543 million, or $3.45 per common share diluted, before special items.

For the seventh consecutive year, the company will share its success with employees through its profit sharing program, Carty said. In March, the company will distribute nearly $300 million to employees, which will be one of the highest payouts since profit sharing began.

After accounting for two special items noted below, AMR reported net earnings of $47 million ($0.29 per common share diluted) for the quarter, as compared to net earnings of $209 million ($1.37 per common share diluted) in 1999.

Fourth Quarter Results

	2000		1999
	Amount (net of tax)	Diluted earnings per share	Amount (net of tax)	Diluted earnings per share
Net earnings before special items	$56	$0.34	$87	$0.57
Gain from recovery of start-up expenses related to the Canadian Airlines service agreement	26	0.16	-	-

1999 special items	-	-	122	0.80
Net earnings as reported	$47	$0.29	$209	$1.37

Including these and prior quarters' special items and an extraordinary loss, AMR's full-year 2000 net earnings were $770 million, or $4.76 per common share diluted, as compared to 1999 net earnings of $656 million, or $4.17 per common share diluted.

Looking ahead to the coming year, Carty said, "We are cautiously optimistic about 2001. We will continue building the best fleet in the industry with the addition of 55 new Boeing jets while retiring a number of our older airplanes, and we expect that More Room Throughout Coach will continue to have a positive effect on revenue.

"At the same time, there are signs that the economy may be softening and there is still uncertainty regarding fuel prices," Carty added. "However, American Airlines is well positioned to face these challenges. We have a strong balance sheet, an excellent fleet and an outstanding product. And through oneworld and our other airline alliances, we have created a broad route network that will only get stronger when we complete our acquisition of assets from TWA, United and US Airways."

Carty also said that American Eagle, American's regional affiliate, will contribute to the company's success in 2001. American Eagle will continue to take delivery of regional jets, which have proven to be very popular with customers. In 2001, American Eagle will add 31 regional jets to its fleet and will be the launch customer for the new 44-seat ERJ 140, built by Embraer.

Note: All net earnings figures cited above are before discontinued operations.

Editor's note: AMR's Chief Financial Officer, Thomas W. Horton, will be available to answer questions during a telephone news conference on Wednesday, Jan. 17, from 3 p.m. to 3:45 p.m. EST. Reporters interested in joining the conference should call 817-967-1577 for details.
