

On February 14, 2013, the following communication was made available for one-off conversations with the media who called Citibank about the proposed transaction.

Citi Reactive Media Statement Re: US Airways-AMR Merger

“As a valued, long-standing partner of American Airlines, we support the airline’s decision to combine with US Airways and look forward to the enhanced possibilities the new American Airlines will bring.

As American continues its journey and takes the next step toward becoming a premier global carrier, we will continue to work with American to bring Citi® / AAdvantage® cardmembers the world-class travel experience, loyalty program and credit card benefits that they expect and value.

As American has stated, the merger is expected close in third quarter of 2013, subject to customary approvals and closing conditions. At this time, American and US Airways will remain separate companies and each company will maintain its current loyalty program, which means customers’ AAdvantage® miles are secure and existing miles will continue to be honored. There is no impact to Citi / AAdvantage credit cardmembers – they can continue to enjoy all the travel benefits of their card.

CITI MEDIA TALKING POINTS – FOR “ON BACKGROUND” CONVERSATIONS WITH MEDIA REGARDING IMPACT ON CITI CARDS

- The Citi/AAdvantage credit card program has generated tremendous client and brand loyalty, and we look forward to working with American Airlines during this next phase of growth.
- American Airlines plans to maintain the AAdvantage program. While we don’t yet have specifics about what the new AAdvantage program will include, we have serviced millions of cardmembers together with American and remain committed to delivering the benefits and service our shared customers expect and value.
- Since introducing the first airline co-brand credit card together 25 years ago, Citi and American Airlines have introduced multiple products appealing to a range of travelers – including a consumer and small business product in the past year.
- American Airlines has confirmed that our existing Citi/AAdvantage credit cardmembers can enjoy all their card benefits as they always have. And, we continue our customer acquisitions program across all channels with competitive offers.

- We are excited that the new American is expected to offer Citi/AAdvantage cardmembers more opportunities to earn and burn miles from an expanded global network of routes and partnerships, unmatched redemption options including flights, hotels, car rentals, vacation packages, one-way awards and lounge memberships, and much more.
 - The new American will join two highly complementary networks with access to the best destinations domestically and around the globe.
 - The combined airline will be better equipped to offer an expanded domestic and global network with more than 6,700 daily flights to 336 destinations in 56 countries by maintaining all the hubs currently served by both airlines.
 - As the new American takes shape, cardmembers can continue to enjoy options for travel and benefits both domestically and internationally through continued membership in the oneworld® Alliance. As they do today, American's oneworld partners will offer access to a range of destinations, airline choices, and mileage earning and redemption opportunities.
 - American expects that the combined airline will ultimately result in the most connected, comfortable travel experience in the industry. Together, it will have a greater ability to continue to invest in transforming the fleet, and modernizing the travel experience through new technologies, products and services.
